The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4, 6-11, 13, & 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Stern et al 5,045,016.

Stern discloses a toy vehicle with the sounding means as claimed, note the abstract. There is a recorder which can digitally record sounds from an external source such as a real truck (column 2, lines 38-45).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5 & 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Stern in view of Choi 6,645,037.

It is not clear if the vehicle of Stern includes a switch to select a set of sounds. A switch to select a desired sound would increase the play value. For example, Choi shows that a toy vehicle may include a switch 21, 22 to select a desired sound; this would be an obvious addition to the toy of Stern.
